Memory and Language

A half day course for education staff

22nd November 2017: 9.15 -12 noon

Worcestershire Young Farmer's Club, Shires Farm, Hawford

This half day training course is designed for education staff working in both primary and secondary schools. It includes:

- Knowledge and understanding of different types of memory, including short term processing and long term memories
- An exploration of the link between working auditory memory skills and the ability to follow instructions and understand language used in the classroom
- An understanding of the link between memory, language and different aspects of the curriculum, including the barriers in learning new vocabulary
- A range of practical strategies to support pupils across the curriculum
- Resources to help you explore and identify strategies to support working memory
- Competences at a universal and enhanced level of the Speech, Language and Communication Framework

I hear it, but when I come to do it, I've forgotten

I mispronounce long words

It goes in one ear and out the other!

I find it hard to remember new words

I can't remember it for long enough to write it down

£65 per place
