

Language for Learning Training

Language for Thinking

With Stephen Parsons and Anna Branagan

19th January 2018: 9.15 – 3.30pm

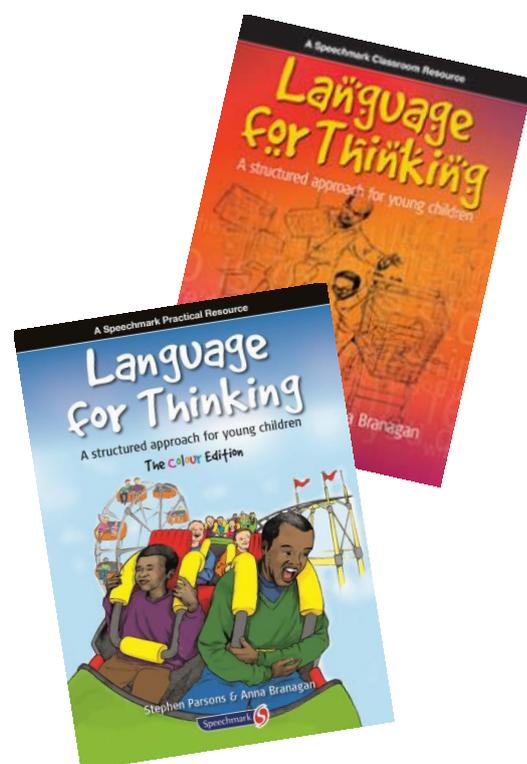

Worcestershire Young farmers Club, Shires Farm, Hawford, Worcester

Using language skills for thinking is difficult for children who are experiencing language difficulties, an autistic spectrum disorder or learning difficulties.

Language for Thinking provides a clear structure to assist teachers, SENCOs, TAs and speech and language therapists in developing children's language from the concrete to the abstract. Quick, practical and easy to use in the classroom, this TARGETED INTERVENTION programme can be used with individual children, in small groups or can form the basis of a literacy lesson.

The Better Communication Research Programme reported that Language for Thinking was the fourth most commonly used intervention for children with language difficulties.

The training day will help you to understand how the resource can be used flexibly with a wide range of ages and abilities; to use the scenarios and question sheets provided to promote children's development of inference, verbal reasoning and thinking skills; and how an assessment of spoken and written language can be used to assess each child's starting level and then to monitor progress.
